

FIRST PLACE TO WENTWORTH

The Lexington Cadets Led Teams in Western Shooting League.

Washington, March 3. — The final match in the Military School Rifle Shooting League shows a clean score of victories for the Bordentown, N. J., military institute in the Eastern League.

The Wentworth Military Academy of Lexington, Mo., finished first in the Western League, St. John's School, Manlius, N. Y., finished second in the Eastern division and the St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wis., and Harvard Military School, Los Angeles, Cal., tied for sixth place in the Western League.

Bordentown and Wentworth now will shoot for the military school shooting championship in the United States. — K. C. Star.

Injured in a Runaway.

Frank Campbell was in the city Monday, and while on his way home with a load of coal his team took fright on South street near the Winkler factory and started to run away. The pole dropped out and Mr. Campbell was thrown to the pavement. Besides one arm, which is thought to be broken, he sustained other painful bruises. The team, uninjured, was stopped at the Arnold school. The wagon was badly damaged. Mr. Campbell was taken to Dr. Ryland's office where his injuries were treated, and then to the home of Mr. Wm. Shacklett on South street.

Clyde Kenney spent Wednesday in Alma.

Death of Mrs. Mattie W. Kinney.

On December 17, 1912, in her home at San Antonio, Texas, Mrs. Mathe Walton Kinney was called to a Heavenly inheritance. She was born near Lexington, Mo. Her father and mother, Col. William and Mrs. Jane Walton, were greatly esteemed citizens.

Mrs. Kinney was married at Sweet Springs in 1868, to Captain R. S. Kinney of the U. S. Army. They had five children, three died young, two remain, John of San Antonio, and Clifton of the U. S. Army.

Her husband, with whom she journeyed through life for over forty years survives her. Her life was not only a blessing to her own family, but to the whole community around. She was a Christian woman, unselfish and true—always loyal to her church but above all to her God.

"If it was all to live" such separations would speak to our hearts, only in tones of despair, but—

"The great rainbow of promise spanning the height, And out of the darkness, faith points us to light."
